SCHOOLS DISMISSED TODAY FOR THE SUMMER VACATION

Past Year, Under Superintendent Pentz Has Been Very Successful.

TOTAL ENROLLMENT 2,025

Average Attendance in the Four Schools During the Year Was Nearly 100 Per Cent.

With a brief afternoon session at which time the pupils received their reports and promotion certificates, the Charleroi schools closed for the summer vacation today. The past year, the first under the superintendency of Prof. James G. Pentz, has been a very successful one.

The total enrollment for the year in the four combined schools is about 2,025, while the monthly enrollment is in the neighborhood of 1,900. During the entire year the average attendance has been 96 and 97 per cent.

The teachers will begin leaving this afternoon for their various homes, and it is expected that the majority of them will be back for next year. The teaching force in the schools this year has been exceptionally good, and the pupils have accomplished much. New ideas were injected that have had a substantial bearing upon the success. These ideas were worked out under the supervision of Prof. Pentz, and it is expected they will be carried out again next year.

There are 74 teachers in Charleroi, including the principals and superintendents. The principals are, Fifth street building, Miss Grace Zillafro; Ninth street building, Miss Emma Myers; Second street building, Miss Etta M. Work; Crest avenue school, Miss Grace Iams.

CLASS NIGHT EXERCISES ARE HELD BY HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATING CLASS

Seniors Produce Well Two One Act Plays, "Acacia Cottage", and "Teeth of the Gift Horse"

HISTORIAN, PROPHET AND DONOR APPEAR ON PROGRAM

The class of 1910, Charleroi High School, last night held their class night exercises at School Hall, two class plays being produced, the class history and class prophecy read, and the class donor presenting his gifts of remembrance. School Hall was crowded for the occasion.

The first play was "Acacia Cottage," a comedy in one act. The play is a story of a funny mixup between a German musician, a character depicted by Norvan Kistler, Mrs. Marker, depicted by Miss Elma Lutes, and her three daughters, parts taken by Misses Rosa Vetter, Ethel Jackson, and Jessie Frye.

Miss Elma Lutes read the class history. In it she told of the beginning of the class, of the vicissitudes it had passed through, of the members who had been lost since its inception, and the various personages who had been teachers of the class.

Norvan Kistler was the class donor. He had a gift of remembrance for every member of the class, including "spavin" liniment for one graduate to use on his sore foot. For the other members of the class he had such nice things as boats, kittens, mousetraps, new dresses, and so forth.

Miss Della Jacobs read the class prophecy, and if the members of the class approach near to the ideals she established for them, it will be one of the most remarkable High School classes ever graduated. Some were noted singers, others renowned artists, while all had a share in the world's greatness.

The second class play, "Teeth of the Gift Horse," a comedy in one act, was like the first, well produced. It was a mixup, where an aunt came to visit the Butler's in New York, only to find vases she had given them some time previous, not in view. These vases finally turn up and unworthy suspicious offset, she prolongs her visit. The characters were taken in this by Kirke McLain, as Richard Butler, Miss Della Jacobs as Mrs. Florence Butler, Miss Mattie Kelly as Marietta Williams the aunt, Miss Cecelia Teitelbaum as Anne Fisher, a friend of the Butlers, John Martin as Devlin Blake, a friend of the Butlers, and Miss Rosa Vetter as Katie, the maid.

MONESSEN MAN SUES RAILROAD FOR DAMAGES

Large Sum Asked as Reimbursement for Alleged Injury.

Samuel Klein of Monessen has brought suit against the P. R. R. company to recover damages in the sum of $20,000. On the 20th of November, 1909, while driving across the tracks of said railroad at Homestead, at the Hays street crossing, he was struck by an engine with a caboose attached and so badly injured he avers that he is permanently disabled. The horse, wagon and himself were dragged along the tracks a distance of 10 feet. The horse was killed and the wagon demolished. No signal was given for the approach of the train, neither was there a watchman for the protection of travelers.

CURFEW DID NOT RING LAST NIGHT: CHIEF KNOWS WHY

Happened on a Fight in Progress Between Three Girls.

Curfew did not ring last night. The unexpected always happens when a fellow is not looking for it, and the unexpected happened last night in Chief Police C. W. Albright's case. Chief Albright was headed toward the school building about 9 o'clock, for the purpose of tolling the bell for the kids to get inside. About half way up Fifth street he noticed a disturbance, and hastening up the hill at no uncertain gait, ascertained that a red hot mill was in progress between three girls of Charleroi. The girls were shrieking, pulling hair, and punching each other for all they were worth, while a fourth stood by, and acted the part of referee. The Chief took the trio of fighters in charge and brought them to the police station where Burgess Risbeck assessed them each $1.00 and costs, which were paid by the girls' steadies.

Books For Presents To Graduates Are In Great Demand Now

"The sale of books this graduating time has been exceedingly heavy," remarked George W. Might of the firm of George S. Might, yesterday. Charleroi and valley people have many friends who are graduating from this and numerous other schools, and the books are in great demand. Mr. Might said that this year had been one of the heaviest since he had been here in that line. Last year the book sale was light, but the previous year it was heavy.

TWO BALLOON ASCENSIONS TO FEATURE CELEBRATION

Meeting of Fourth Committees Held Last Evening.

SEVERAL REPORTS HEARD

Many Merchants Promise to Have Floats in Line of Parade.

Reports of the work being done by the various committees arranging for the Fourth of July celebration were made last night at the weekly meeting held in Burgess George W. Risbeck's office. The work of preparation is going on rapidly and while some of the committees have not finished their preliminary haste, good progress is being made.

The sports committee made a report that they had their program nearly ready for printing.

The sports program will be featured by two balloon ascensions, by an expert balloonist. Besides this there will be foot racing, a fireman's race, and the bull throwing contest.

The parade committee reported that a number of the merchants state they would be willing to put floats in the parade. Chief Mashall John Majors stated that he had appointed a number of aids. The Italian band is one that has been engaged for the occasion. The finance committee made as much of a report as they could, but they still have some money to get.

DOUGLAS GRADUATES PLAN TO ORGANIZE AN ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Meeting will Likely Be Called on June 4 to Discuss the Idea.

Graduates of the Charleroi Douglas Business college may form a Douglas College Alumni association. A movement towards this end has been started by graduates of the 1907 and 1908 classes, and the sentiment is said to be in favor of such an association. It is likely that a meeting will be called for June 4, at the college rooms in Charleroi, when the matter will be taken up. There are a large number of Douglas graduates around over the country. The idea of the organization would be to promote social fellowship among the Douglas alumni.

As Others See Him.

The following from the Donora American of last week is a fair sample of how Congressman John K. Tener is regarded by the press and his constituents generally throughout the district. The American says:

"No better evidence is needed to attest the popularity and ability of the Hon. John K. Tener than the fact that but one other Republican in his disrtict had the temerity to come out as an aspirant for his seat. Under the popular vote system the field is open to all, and no less than half a dozen men of prominence were importuned by the dethroned former boss of the distict before he secued one willing to run for place in the race. Those best qualified to step into the Congressman's shoes are backing Mr. Tener for a second term.

"The personal side of Mr Tener's character, as much as his abilities, is largley responsible for his success. He is the kind of a man whose mere presence inspires confidence and respect. Successful in his every undertaking, there is not the slightest element of snobbery in his entire make-up.

"Away back thirty years ago he played ball with the boys on vacant lots. Ten years later he was one of the nation's leading exponents of the game, a pitcher on the staff of the world's champions. On a trip abroad, with royalty present to witness the great American game, it was John K. who was selected to sit in the royal box as representative of the players.

"If the setting were different, and he was hobnobbing with the common herd, John K. would derive as much pleasure in explaining the fine points to a horny-handed stranger, or to a ten-year old urchin.

"Later in life, like nine-tenths of the male adult humans, he joined a lodge. His fraternal lot was cast among the Elks. Although living in a village, the next we hear of him he is Grand Exalted Ruler of that well known order.

"There are some men who succeed in life by fighting their way to the top and their pathway is strewn with wrecks of blighted hopes and honest ambitions. A lesser number of successful men advance with the aid, voluntarily given, of their associates, and their pathway shows only wrecks of the unworthy and unfit. Such a man is Mr. Tener. Ask his neighbors, ask his friends, ask even his business competitors. Mr. Tener is engaged in the banking business in Charleroi and his competitors of the other banks there are among his loyal supporters. Could an ordinary business man be picked out in the average town and have his competitors working overtime for his races? Not during the present hunting season, which is always open for that kind of game.

"John K. Tener will be the next Congerssman from this district, unless something better comes his way, and it will be because he is fit for the place. He is every inch a man, and there are a good many inches in his six and half feet of stature. And when you, gentle reader, hear someone from this neighborhood "spouting" against John K., put him under the microscope, or the ex-ray, or some other kind of an ex, for there's something wrong and the chances are that it will be found not more than skin deep."

An application of the test suggested by the American will reveal the fact that any opposition to Congressman Tener in his own community is founded on other reasons than a desire for conscientious, energetic and business like representation in the interests of good government. It will not stand this test.

In Wrong Again.

In replying to a statement of the Mail that the nominations for political offices in Pennsylvania are in the hands of the people, the Washington Reporter, one of the Acheson organs that is trying hard to create dissension in the ranks of the Republican party, asserts that there are no candidates in the field for the four State offices to be filled this year. It also adds: "One would think from reading the Mail that the people robbed themselves of the $6,000,000 in furnishing the new State capitol."

In regard to the first assertion, the Reporter knows that its editor, Mr. Acheson, or any other citizen, can enter the lists as a candidate for any of the State offices he chooses, and that the delegates who nominate the officials are elected by the voters. In regard to the capitol steal, the Reporter also knows that the principal grafters are in the penitentiary, and that at the time the Reporter itself not only supported the administration under which the steal was perpetrated, but was strangely silent when the facts were first brought to light. Mr. Acheson was a candidate for Congress then, and his papers helped to shield the perpetrators of the rascality which the subsequent administration brought to justice and punished.

At Last.

Doubting Thomases who were inclined to believe that the Charleroi Water company would not keep faith with the borough and install a filtration plant will probably change their views, now that the contractors are actually on the ground. This is tangible evidence, and should convince the most skeptical that the long desired filtration plant is actually in light.

To the borough council, for its active work, and to the citzens in general for their agitation and support, belongs the credit of this move. It was a long and hard fight, but the company found that it could not stand out against public sentiment, particularly when the public was backed by the laws of the Commonwealth. It was necessary to invoke the aid of these laws, and when the water company found that the people would not be put off any longer it capitulated as gracefully as possible under the circumstances. This is another instance of how pulling together will achieve results.

Let's see, what issue was it that the Washington Observer supported before the last change was made, and at the present moment what is it boosting?

Why Tailors Sit Crosslegged.

A tailor making a dress coat sat crosslegged on a table, like a Turk. "Why do tailors always work in that uncomfortable position?" asked a visitor.

"Women's tailors don't. Only men's do," was the reply. "And for men's tailors it is the most comfortable and the most convenient position possible. You see, the sewing on men's clothes is very fine. The work must be held up close to the eyes. Well, in this position I lean the work on my elevated knees, and thus it is nearer my eyes, while at the same time my back remains straight. Analyzed, the position is a fine one. It keeps the back straight and the chest out, the knees make a table close up to the face, and eye strain is avoided.

"Tailors for women sit on chairs. For one thing, the sewing on women's clothes is less fine than on men's. For another, the woman's tailor has to get up every few minutes to go to the manikin, and all that rising, if he sat crosslegged on the floor, would tire him too much in the day's run."—New York Press.

Solomon's Bathtub.

With Chronicles as its authority, the Plumbers' Trade Journal says that the bathroom was an invention of King Solomon, who put it in use a thousand years before the Christian era. It was sinful to enter the sanctuary unless the body was perfectly clean, and for the accommodation of priests a bathtub was erected at the entrance to the temple. It was said of Solomon, "He made a molten sea of ten cubits from brim to brim round in compass and five cubits the height thereof, and a line of thirty cubits did compass it roundabout." According to the measurements, the Solomonian tub was forty-five feet in circumference at the top and six and one-half feet deep. It rested on carved figures of oxen and was of solid brass cast in one piece, decorated with a floral design. Connected with it there were ten small sinks, which were used for washing the offering.

SCHOOLS DISMISSED TODAY FOR THE SUMMER VACATION

TOTAL ENROLLMENT 2,025

Average Attendance in the Four Schools During the Year Was Nearly 100 Per Cent.

With a brief afternoon session at which time the pupils received their reports and promotion certificates, the Charleroi schools closed for the summer vacation today. The past year, the first under the superintendency of Prof. James G. Pentz, has been a very successful one.

The total enrollment for the year in the four combined schools is about 2,025, while the monthly enrollment is in the neighborhood of 1,900. During the entire year the average attendance has been 96 and 97 per cent.

The teachers will begin leaving this afternoon for their various homes, and it is expected that the majority of them will be back for next year. The teaching force in the schools this year has been exceptionally good, and the pupils have accomplished much. New ideas were injected that have had a substantial bearing upon the success. These ideas were worked out under the supervision of Prof. Pentz, and it is expected they will be carried out again next year.

There are 74 teachers in Charleroi, including the principals and superintendents. The principals are, Fifth street building, Miss Grace Zillafro; Ninth street building, Miss Emma Myers; Second street building, Miss Etta M. Work; Crest avenue school, Miss Grace Iams.

CLASS NIGHT EXERCISES ARE HELD BY HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATINC CLASS

HISTORIAN, PROPHET AND DONOR APPEAR ON PROGRAM

The class of 1910, Charleroi High School, last night held their class night exercises at School Hall, two class plays being produced, the class history and class prophecy read, and the class donor presenting his gifts of remembrance. School Hall was crowded for the occasion.

The first play was "Acacia Cottage," a comedy in one act. The play is a story of a funny mixup between a German musician, a character depicted by Norvan Kistler, Mrs. Marker, depicted by Miss Elma Lutes, and her three daughters, parts taken by Misses Rosa Vetter, Ethel Jackson, and Jessie Frye.

Miss Elma Lutes read the class history. In it she told of the beginning of the class, of the vicissitudes it had passed through, of the members who had been lost since its inception, and the various personages who had been teachers of the class.

Norvan Kistler was the class donor. He had a gift of remembrance for every member of the class. including "spavin" liniment for one graduate to use on his sore foot. For the other members of the class he had such nice things as boats, kittens, mousetraps, new dresses, and so forth.

Miss Della Jacobs read the class prophecy, and if the members of the class approach near to the ideals she established for them, it will be one of the most remarkable High School classes ever graduated. Some were noted singers, others renowned artists, while all had a share in the world's greatness.

The second class play, "Teeth of the Gift Horse," a comedy in one act, was like the first, well produced. It was a mixup, where an aunt came to visit the Butler's in New York, only to find vases she had given them some time previous, not in view. These vases finally turn up and unworthy suspicious offset, she prolongs her visit. The characters were taken in this by Kirke McLain, as Richard Butler, Miss Della Jacobs as Mrs. Florence Butler. Miss Mattie Kelly as Marietta Williams the aunt, Miss Cecelia Teitelbaum as Anne Fisher, a friend of the Butlers, John Martin as Devlin Blake, a friend of the Butlers, and Miss Rosa Vetter as Katie, the maid.

Bosson's orchestra, under the direction of August Bosson furnished special music during the moments of intermission, and won decided applause by its excellent renditions.

The horse, wagon and himself were dragged along the tracks a distance of 10 feet. The horse was killed and the wagon demolished. No signal was given for the approach of the train, neither was there a watchman for the protection of travelers.

CURFEW DID NOT RING LAST NIGHT: CHIEF KNOWS WHY

Happened on a Fight in Progress Between Three Girls.

Curfew did not ring last night. The unexpected always happens when a fellow is not looking for it, and the unexpected happened last night in Chief Police C. W. Albright's case. Chief Albright was headed toward the school building about 9 o'clock, for the purpose of tolling the bell for the kids to get inside. About half way up Fifth street he noticed a disturbance, and hastening up the hill at no uncertain gait, ascertained that a red hot mill was in progress between three girls of Charleroi. The girls were shrieking, pulling hair, and punching each other for all they were worth, while a fourth stood by, and acted the part of referee. The Chief took the trio of fighters in charge and brought them to the police station where Burgess Risbeck assessed them each $1.00 and costs, which were paid by the girls' steadies.

Books For Presents To Graduates Are In Great Demand Now

Mr. Might said that this year had been one of the heaviest since he had been here in that line. Last year the book sale was light, but the previous year it was heavy.

Meeting of Fourth Committees Held Last Evening.

Many Merchants Promise to Have Floats in Line of Parade.

Reports of the work being done by the various committees arranging for the Fourth of July celebration were made last night at the weekly meeting held in Burgess George W. Risbeck's office. The work of preparation is going on rapidly and while some of the committees have not finished their preliminary haste, good progress is being made.

The sports committee made a report that they had their program nearly ready for printing.

The sports program will be featured by two balloon ascensions, by an expert balloonist. Besides this there will be foot racing, a fireman's race, and the bull throwing contest.

The parade committee reported that a number of the merchants state they would be willing to put floats in the parade. Chief Mashall John Majors stated that he had appointed a number of aids. The Italian band is one that has been engaged for the occasion. The finance committee made as much of a report as they could, but they still have some money to get.

DOUGLAS GRADUATES PLAN TO ORGANIZE AN ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Meeting will Likely Be Called on June 4 to Discuss the Idea.

Graduates of the Charleroi Douglas Business college may form a Douglas College Alumni association. A movement towards this end has been started by graduates of the 1907 and 1908 classes, and the sentiment is said to be in favor of such an association. It is likely that a meeting will be called for June 4, at the college rooms in Charleroi, when the matter will be taken up. There are a large number of Douglas graduates around over the country. The idea of the organization would be to promote social fellowship among the Douglas alumni.

Your support and influence respectfully solicited.

As Others See Him.

The following from the Donora American of last week is a fair sample of how Congressman John K. Tener is regarded by the press and his constituents generally throughout the district. The American says:

"No better evidence is needed to attest the popularity and ability of the Hon. John K. Tener than the fact that but one other Republican in his disrtict had the temerity to come out as an aspirant for his seat. Under the popular vote system the field is open to all, and no less than half a dozen men of prominence were importuned by the dethroned former boss of the district before he secued one willing to run for place in the race. Those best qualified to step into the Congressman's shoes are backing Mr. Tener for a second term.

"The personal side of Mr Tener's character, as much as his abilities, is largley responsible for his success. He is the kind of a man whose mere presence inspires confidence and respect. Successful in his every undertaking, there is not the slightest element of snobbery in his entire make-up.

"Away back thirty years ago he played ball with the boys on vacant lots. Ten years later he was one of the nation's leading exponents of the game, a pitcher on the staff of the world's champions. On a trip abroad, with royalty present to witness the great American game, it was John K. who was selected to sit in the royal box as representative of the players.

"If the setting were different, and he was hobnobbing with the common herd, John K. would derive as much pleasure in explaining the fine points to a horny-handed stranger, or to a ten-year old urchin.

"Later in life, like nine-tenths of the male adult humans, he joined a lodge. His fraternal lot was cast among the Elks. Although living in a village, the next we hear of him he is Grand Exalted Ruler of that well known order.

"There are some men who succeed in life by fighting their way to the top and their pathway is strewn with wrecks of blighted hopes and honest ambitions. A lesser number of successful men advance with the aid, voluntarily given, of their associates, and their pathway shows only wrecks of the unworthy and unfit. Such a man is Mr. Tener. Ask his neighbors, ask his friends, ask even his business competitors. Mr. Tener is engaged in the banking business in Charleroi and his competitors of the other banks there are among his loyal supporters. Could an ordinary business man be picked out in the average town and have his competitors working overtime for his succes? Not during the present hunting season, which is always open for that kind of game.

"John K. Tener will be the next Congerssman from this district, unless something better comes his way, and it will be because he is fit for the place. He is every inch a man, and there are a good many inches in his six and half feet of stature. And when you, gentle reader, hear someone from this neighborhood "spouting" against John K., put him under the microscope, or the ex-ray, or some other kind of an ex, for there's something wrong and the chances are that it will be found not more than skin deep."

An application of the test suggested by the American will reveal the fact that any opposition to Congressman Tener in his own community is founded on other reasons than a desire for conscientious, energetic and business-like representation in the interests of good government. It will not stand this test.

In Wrong Again.

In replying to a statement of the Mail that the nominations for political offices in Pennsylvania are in the hands of the people, the Washington Reporter, one of the Acheson organs that is trying hard to create dissension in the ranks of the Republican party, asserts that there are no candidates in the field for the four State offices to be filled this year. It also adds: "One would think from reading the Mail that the people robbed themselves of the $6,000,000 in furnishing the new State capitol."

In regard to the first assertion, the Reporter knows that its editor, Mr. Acheson, or any other citizen, can enter the lists as a candidate for any of the State offices he chooses, and that the delegates who nominate the officials are elected by the voters. In regard to the capitol steal, the Reporter also knows that the principal grafters are in the penitentiary, and that at the time the Reporter itself not only supported the administration under which the steal was perpetrated, but was strangely silent when the facts were first brought to light. Mr. Acheson was a candidate for Congress then, and his papers helped to shield the perpetrators of the rascality which the subsequent administration brought to justice and punished.

At Last.

Doubting Thomases who were inclined to believe that the Charleroi Water company would not keep faith with the borough and install a filtration plant will probably change their views, now that the contractors are actually on the ground. This is tangible evidence, and should convince the most skeptical that the long desired filtration plant is actually in light.

To the borough council, for its active work, and to the citzens in general for their agitation and support, belongs the credit of this move. It was a long and hard fight, but the company found that it could not stand out against public santiment, particularly when the public was backed by the laws of the Commonwealth. It was necessary to invoke the aid of these laws, and when the water company found that the people would not be put off any longer it capitulated as gracefully as possible under the circumstances. This is another instance of how pulling together will achieve results.

Short skirts and tights must go from the billboards, according to a bill poster's statement. We always thought that they appeared on the stage at a burlesque show.

When a realistic picture is to be produced at a picture house, it is advisable for the management to always announce before it is run that all will end well to prevent hysteria on the part of the audience.

Let's see, what issue was it that the Washington Observer supported before the last change was made, and at the present moment what is it boosting?

"Defunct politicians" means fellows who have once been something, but are not any longer.

One of the results of the high tariff on wool is that most consumers are now wearing cotton.

When the father remarks that at his son's age he "could paddle his own canoe," he had better watch out for the retort that his son can go him one better and operate his own motor boat.

There is some advantage in being a capitalist. Then you can buy a fine automobile coat, and people will really think you have the automobile.

China is going to borrow $25,000,000 more money. First thing we know they will be having trouble over there with their tariff, and system of taxation.

It sort of seems that some of these European countries are just aching to get into a fight, so that they can determine for a certainty which has the best naval squadron.

Dancing a Marathon is more tiresome than running a Marathon, and besides it has the name of being real wicked.

Why Tailors Sit Crosslegged.

A tailor making a dress coat sat crosslegged on a table, like a Turk. "Why do tailors always work in that uncomfortable position?" asked a visitor.

"Women's tailors don't. Only men's do," was the reply. "And for men's tailors it is the most comfortable and the most convenient position possible. You see, the sewing on men's clothes is very fine. The work must be held up close to the eyes. Well, in this position I lean the work on my elevated knees, and thus it is nearer my eyes, while at the same time my back remains straight. Analyzed, the position is a fine one. It keeps the back straight and the chest out, the knees make a table close up to the face, and eye strain is avoided.

"Tailors for women sit on chairs. For one thing, the sewing on women's clothes is less fine than on men's. For another, the woman's tailor has to get up every few minutes to go to the manikin, and all that rising, if he sat crosslegged on the floor, would tire him too much in the day's run."—New York Press.

Solomon's Bathtub.

With Chronicles as its authority, the Plumbers' Trade Journal says that the bathroom was an invention of King Solomon, who put it in use a thousand years before the Christian era. It was sinful to enter the sanctuary unless the body was perfectly clean, and for the accommodation of priests a bathtub was erected at the entrance to the temple. It was said of Solomon, "He made a molten sea of ten cubits from brim to brim round in compass and five cubits the height thereof, and a line of thirty cubits did compass it roundabout." According to the measurements, the Solomonian tub was forty-five feet in circumference at the top and six and one-half feet deep. It rested on carved figures of oxen and was of solid brass cast in one piece decorated with a floral design. Connected with it there were ten small sinks, which were used for washing the offering.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Charleroi People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Charleroi prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. John Wilson, Third Street, Charleroi, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store, have been used in our family for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble and they have always brought great relief. I took this remedy several years ago for disordered kidneys and in view of the good results I received, I recommend it highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co. Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
